

next is to convert the field login name to email. the list of actions doesn't have a convert link, to select email.
where is the convert link?

I think that Rollbase has changed that and we can no longer convert login names. Let me look back on the email that mentioned that. So you might have to skip that step

This is what Ben said in his notes:

the Login name field is text by default, and we converted it to email in our products later on. The problem is, Rollbase decided in a recent release that they shouldn't have allowed people to convert the login name field in the first place, so they took away the convert option, leaving us stuck with email address fields that can't be converted back.
